The committee which has in charge the campaign for raising $11,000 for the improvement of the Amaleth Military Academy sought work again this morning and at 10 o'clock the first success came in the beginning of the campaign. The plan in which the work was originally broken was found to be unsatisfactory and it became necessary Friday to alter the arrangement. This also made a new beginning of the solicitation necessary and for that reason the committee in the morning was endeavoring to cover this week. The subscription is very much now urged upon the reception they are receiving today as they expect to add another thousand dollars to the total of thousands next before closing the day's success.

The Anaheim representation to the association is the counties of the Permanently Divided of the California Highway Association returned to this city Sunday after attending the convention. An enthusiastic meeting is reported and a number of important steps were taken looking to the improvement of the road conditions between Texarkana and Dallas. A full report of the meeting is not available today but will be published later in these columns.

An unusual good crowd gathered at Caspary's Florida Machine on the East Side Sunday to hear Rev. Ell who is conducting a revival at this place. At the evening hour we heard several sermons, together with

BANK EXPECTS TO OPEN SATURDAY

The installation of fixtures in the Post office building for the new temporary State Bank has been completed and J. C. Ryman, president of the new institution, stated this morning to a Panhandle representative that the bank will open for business probably on Sunday. The capital stock of the new institution is $25,000. The officers are J. C. Ryman, president; C. M. McCallough, vice president; and C. P. Elliott, cashier. Word was received by the office of the State bank late Saturday afternoon that their chart had been approved Saturday by the State banking department. Steps were taken immediately to perfect the organization and the preparatory work is being rushed with a view to opening for business Saturday.

Response to the invitation to attend the farmers' institute at 10 a. m. On Wednesday indicates that a large number of farmers from the surrounding counties expect to be in attendance. The institute will be held in the auditorium at the city hall beginning at 2 p. m. and will be conducted by farm specialists from Austin assisted by local men.

In addition to the program previously announced arrangements have been made to have Walter C. McCreary, specialist, attend and discuss and address the farmers on marketing problems. Mr. McCreary in a letter to farm director Herman Benton, stated that he expected to discuss every phase of the problem pertaining to the marketing of Panhandle crabs.

Rev. Robert Harris, pastor of the Baptist Church in Hagerstown, Tenn., who arrived in Amsterdam on Tuesday morning, declares that Wilgelm was visited by the president ship on eight consecutive Fridays. He states that farmers in the Hagerstown country are growing more and more optimistic on the question of the wheat crop. For a while it was feared that the crop would be a complete failure, but the heavy rains of the past week, beginning Sunday and continuing
